I have seen a lot of baby gear for expectant parents that lets them listen to the baby's heartbeat and sounds while the baby is still in the womb. We have probably all heard about talking to the unborn child or playing it music too.

A company called Nuvo has a new product called the Ritmo that is a sound system for the baby. The device goes onto the mother's belly and has speakers that play music or other audio for the baby to listen too.

The device has four speakers and a controller that regulates the sound output. The controller is about the size of a deck of cards. The system can connect to the iPhone, iPods, and other music devices. The device ships with a washable pouch for wearing the speakers, an audio controller, two mini speaker sets, a 110v charger, belt extender, audio cable, and instructions for $129.99. The Ritmo is available to order now.
